Disclosures & Important Information

In Case of Errors — Electronic Transfers

Contact us at the number or address on this statement as soon as you can if you think your statement is wrong or you need more information about an electronic transfer. We must hear from you no later than 60 days after we sent the first statement on which the error appeared.

FDIC Insurance

Deposits are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation up to the maximum amount permitted by law, currently $250,000 per depositor, per insured bank, for each account ownership category.

Funds Availability

Our policy is to make funds from your deposits available on the first business day after the day we receive the deposit. Electronic direct deposits are available on the day we receive them. Longer holds may apply in limited cases.

Overdrafts and Returned Items

We may, at our discretion, pay items that overdraw your account, but we are not obligated to do so. Fees for overdraft or returned items, if any, are disclosed in the fee schedule and appear in the activity when assessed.

Non-Sufficient Funds

If an item is presented against insufficient available funds, we may return it unpaid or pay it at our discretion. The order in which items are processed is described in your account agreement.

Substitute Checks

Under federal law you have rights regarding substitute checks in certain cases where you suffer a loss related to a substitute check that was posted to your account. A summary of these rights is available on request.

Zero Liability for Debit Cards

You are not liable for unauthorized debit card transactions when you report them promptly, subject to the conditions of your account agreement and applicable payment network rules.

Balancing Your Account

Compare the transactions on this statement with your own records and report any discrepancy promptly. Begin with the ending balance, add deposits not yet shown, and subtract outstanding withdrawals.

Annual Percentage Yield

The annual percentage yield reflects the total interest to be paid on a deposit based on the interest rate and the frequency of compounding for a year, assuming funds remain on deposit for the full term.

Interest Rate Variability

Interest rates and annual percentage yields on savings and interest checking accounts are variable and may change at the bank's discretion at any time, unless a fixed rate is specified in a separate agreement.

Minimum Balance and Fees

Certain accounts require a minimum balance to earn the stated yield or to avoid a monthly maintenance fee. Applicable requirements and fees are described in your account agreement and fee schedule.

Posting Order and Cutoff

Transactions received after the daily cutoff time or on a non-business day are processed on the next business day, which may affect the order of posting and the calculation of interest and any fees.

Stop Payments

You may request a stop payment on a check or preauthorized electronic transfer. A stop payment request is subject to the terms and any fee described in your account agreement and must be received in time for us to act.

Regulation E — Electronic Fund Transfers

Federal Reserve rules govern electronic fund transfers to and from your account, establishing consumer protections, error-resolution procedures, and limits on your liability for unauthorized transfers when reported promptly.

Regulation CC — Funds Availability

Federal rules govern how long we may hold deposited funds before making them available and the notices we must provide when a hold is placed on a deposit.

Regulation DD — Truth in Savings

Federal rules require uniform disclosure of deposit account terms, including the annual percentage yield, so that you can compare accounts on a consistent basis.

Set-Off Rights

To the extent permitted by law, we may apply funds in your account toward amounts you owe us that are due and payable, subject to applicable exemptions and the terms of your account agreement.

Account Restrictions and Legal Process

We may place a hold or restriction on your account in response to legal process, suspected fraud, disputes among owners, or as otherwise permitted by your account agreement and applicable law.

Joint Accounts

Each owner of a joint account may deposit, withdraw, and transact without the consent of the other owners. Upon the death of an owner, ownership passes according to the account's survivorship terms.

Dormant Accounts

An account with no owner-generated activity for an extended period may be classified as dormant. Dormant accounts remain your property but may be subject to escheatment under state law.

Deposit Account Agreement — Acceptance

By opening or using your account you agree to the terms of the deposit account agreement, the fee schedule, and the rate information, each of which may be amended from time to time with notice as required by law.

Account Ownership

The ownership of your account, including any survivorship rights, is determined by how the account is titled and by applicable state law. You are responsible for ensuring the titling reflects your intentions.

Deposits

We may accept deposits made in person, by mail, by electronic transfer, or through other channels we make available. All deposits are subject to verification and to our funds availability policy, and may be adjusted if an error is found.

Withdrawals and Signatures

Withdrawals may be made by the persons authorized on the account by the methods we permit. We may require reasonable identification and may refuse a withdrawal that would exceed the available balance.

Preauthorized Transfers

You may authorize others to initiate electronic debits or credits to your account. You may stop a preauthorized electronic transfer by notifying us in time for us to act, subject to the terms of your agreement.

Statements and Your Duty to Review

We make statements available for each statement cycle. You agree to examine your statement promptly and to notify us of any unauthorized or erroneous transaction within the time periods stated to preserve your rights.

Fees and Charges

Fees applicable to your account, including any monthly maintenance fee, overdraft or returned-item fee, and service charges, are described in the fee schedule. Fees are deducted from your account when incurred.

Interest Calculation

For interest-bearing accounts, we use the daily balance method to calculate interest, applying a daily periodic rate to the collected balance in the account each day. Interest is compounded and credited as stated in the rate information.

Wire Transfers

Wire transfers are subject to the rules of the applicable funds-transfer system and to our cutoff times. We may rely on the account or identifying number you provide, even if it identifies a party different from the named beneficiary.

ACH Transactions

Automated Clearing House entries to and from your account are governed by the operating rules of the National Automated Clearing House Association. Credit given for an ACH entry is provisional until we receive final settlement.

Overdraft Coverage Options

We offer options that may cover transactions that overdraw your account. Standard overdraft practices and any overdraft protection plan you select are described in your agreement. You may add or remove certain options at any time.

Right to Refuse or Return Items

We may refuse to accept or may return any item or deposit, in whole or in part, and may reverse credit for a deposited item that is returned unpaid, adjusting your balance accordingly.

Legal Process and Holds

We may comply with any legal process we believe to be valid, including garnishments and levies, and may place a hold on or remove funds from your account as required, and may charge a fee as permitted by law.

Set-Off and Security Interest

Subject to applicable law, you grant us a security interest in your accounts and we may set off funds in your accounts against any debt you owe us that is due, except where prohibited by law.

Closing the Account

You or we may close the account at any time. If we close the account, we will send you any collected balance, less amounts owed to us, to the address of record, subject to holds for outstanding items.

Adverse Claims

If there is a dispute or conflicting claim regarding your account, we may place a hold on the account, decline to act until the dispute is resolved, or take other action permitted by law to protect ourselves.

Address and Notices

Notices to you are effective when mailed to the address of record or made available electronically if you have consented. You must keep your contact information current so that you receive statements and notices.

Amendments

We may amend the terms of your account, including fees and interest rates, by providing notice as required by law. Your continued use of the account after the effective date constitutes acceptance of the amendment.

Abandoned Property

If your account becomes dormant and we are unable to contact you for the period specified by state law, the balance may be remitted to the state as unclaimed property in accordance with applicable escheat statutes.

Verification and Reporting

We may obtain and use information about you from consumer reporting agencies and may report information about your account to them. You may request the name of any agency from which we obtained a report.

Statement Cycle and Availability

We produce a statement for each statement cycle in which there is activity or a balance. Statements are available through the channels you have selected and reflect transactions posted through the closing date.

Combined Relationship Statement

When you hold more than one deposit account with us, we may present them together on a combined relationship statement for convenience. Each account remains separate and is governed by its own terms.

Interest Compounding and Crediting

For interest-bearing accounts, interest is compounded and credited as stated in the rate information. Interest begins to accrue no later than the business day we receive credit for the deposit of noncash items.

Debit Card Transactions

Debit card purchases and withdrawals reduce your available balance when authorized and post to your account when the merchant submits them. Authorization holds may temporarily reduce your available balance.

Recurring and Preauthorized Debits

You may set up recurring debits with billers. If a scheduled debit would overdraw your account, we may return it unpaid. Manage recurring debits directly with the biller and monitor your balance to avoid returns.

Account Alerts

You may enroll in balance and transaction alerts to help you monitor your account and detect unauthorized activity promptly. Standard message and data rates may apply to text alerts.

Privacy Notice

We collect nonpublic personal information about you to open and service your account, such as information from your application and your transactions. We do not sell your information and share it only as permitted by law and as described in our privacy policy, a copy of which is available on request.

Information Safeguards

We maintain physical, electronic, and procedural safeguards designed to protect your nonpublic personal information. Access is limited to personnel who need it to provide products and services to you.

Electronic Delivery Consent

If you have consented to electronic delivery, statements, notices, and disclosures are provided electronically. You may withdraw consent and receive paper documents at any time by contacting us using the information on this statement.

Electronic Signatures and Records

You agree that electronic records and signatures have the same legal effect as paper documents and handwritten signatures with respect to your account and any related agreements.

OFAC and Sanctions Screening

Transactions are screened against sanctions lists maintained by the U.S. Office of Foreign Assets Control. Activity involving sanctioned parties or jurisdictions may be delayed, blocked, or rejected as required by law.

Governing Law

Your account and the applicable agreement are governed by applicable federal law and, to the extent not preempted, the laws of the state identified in your agreement, without regard to conflict-of-laws principles.

Assignment

We may assign or transfer your account and our rights under the agreement to another party. Your obligations remain unchanged, and you will be notified of a servicing transfer as required by law.

Address of Record

Notices are sent to the address of record. Please keep it current. Notices we send to the address of record are effective when sent, whether or not you actually receive them.

Change of Contact Information

Keep your telephone number and email address current so we can send you important notices and reach you promptly about possible fraud or servicing matters.

Unclaimed Property (Escheatment)

If we are unable to locate you and your account shows no owner-generated activity for the dormancy period set by state law, the balance may be reported and remitted to the state as unclaimed property.

Rounding Convention

Figures on this document are rounded to the nearest cent for display. Minor differences may appear between a total and the sum of the individual rounded amounts shown.
