Your Billing Rights & Important Disclosures

How We Calculate Your Interest Charge

We figure the interest charge on your account by applying the monthly periodic rate to the Balance Subject to Interest Rate shown in the Interest Charge Calculation section. The monthly periodic rate for purchases is 2.0825%, which is the annual percentage rate of 24.99% divided by 12. The Balance Subject to Interest Rate is the balance on which interest was assessed for the billing period; new purchases are not charged interest when the previous balance was paid in full by the due date.

Your Billing Rights

If you think there is an error on your statement, write to us at the billing inquiries address within 60 days after the error appeared on your statement. You may call us, but doing so will not preserve your rights. While we investigate, you do not have to pay the amount in question.

Paying Interest

Your due date is at least 25 days after the close of each billing cycle. We will not charge interest on new purchases if you pay the entire balance by the due date each month. Interest on cash advances and balance transfers begins on the transaction date.

Minimum Payment and Repayment

Paying only the minimum payment increases the total interest you pay and the time it takes to repay your balance. The Minimum Payment Warning on your statement illustrates the effect of paying only the minimum.

Late Payment Warning

If we do not receive your minimum payment by the due date, you may be charged a late fee and your annual percentage rates may be increased to the penalty APR disclosed in your account terms.

Variable Rate Notice

Variable annual percentage rates are based on the Prime Rate published in a national financial newspaper plus a margin. When the Prime Rate changes, the variable APRs change on the first day of the affected billing cycle.

Grace Period

The grace period is the interval during which you may pay your new balance in full to avoid interest on new purchases, provided you paid the prior balance in full by its due date.

Foreign Transactions

Transactions in a foreign currency are converted to U.S. dollars using a rate selected by the payment network on the conversion date. Any foreign transaction fee is disclosed in the account terms.

Payment Application

We apply the minimum payment first to lower-rate balances as permitted by law. Amounts you pay above the minimum are applied to the balance with the highest annual percentage rate first.

Lost or Stolen Card

If you notice the loss or theft of your card or possible unauthorized use, contact us immediately at the number on the back of your card. You will not be liable for unauthorized purchases when you report the loss promptly.

Credit Reporting

We may report information about your account to credit bureaus. Late payments, missed payments, or other defaults on your account may be reflected in your credit report.

Credit Limit and Available Credit

Your available credit is your credit limit less your current balance and any pending authorizations. We may adjust your credit limit consistent with your account agreement and applicable law.

Cash Advances

Cash advances accrue interest from the transaction date at the cash advance APR and may be subject to a cash advance fee. Cash advances do not have a grace period.

Balance Transfers

Balance transfers may be offered at a promotional rate for a limited time and may carry a balance transfer fee. After any promotional period, the standard purchase or balance transfer APR applies.

Returns and Credits

A credit for a returned purchase is applied when the merchant submits it and may post after your payment due date. A credit does not satisfy your obligation to make at least the minimum payment shown.

Authorized Users

You are responsible for all use of the account by anyone you authorize. Activity by an authorized user appears on your statement and is your responsibility to pay.

Recurring Charges

A merchant you authorize may bill your card on a repeating schedule until you cancel with the merchant. Updating or replacing your card does not automatically cancel recurring charges.

Disputes and Chargebacks

For certain disputes, such as goods not received or not as described, you may have a right to a chargeback through the payment network after first attempting to resolve the matter with the merchant.

Provisional Credit

We may issue a temporary credit while we investigate a disputed transaction. If the dispute is resolved against you, the provisional credit may be reversed and the amount added back to your balance.

Merchant Category Codes

Each merchant is assigned a category code describing the primary goods or services it provides. Category codes may determine rewards earning and eligibility for certain benefits.

Rewards Program Terms

Rewards are earned on eligible net purchases and may be forfeited if the account is not in good standing. Points have no cash value until redeemed and are subject to the rewards program terms.

Updating Contact Information

Keep your telephone number and email current so we can send account alerts and reach you about possible fraud. You may update your information in the mobile app or by phone.

Cardmember Agreement — Acceptance

Using your account, or signing or keeping the card, means you accept this agreement. This agreement, together with the rates and fees table and any additional disclosures we provide, forms the contract that governs your account.

Promise to Pay

You promise to pay us for all amounts owed on your account, including purchases, cash advances, balance transfers, interest charges, and fees, whether incurred by you or by anyone you authorize to use the account.

Using Your Account

You may use your account for purchases, and, if eligible, for cash advances and balance transfers. We may decline to authorize a transaction for any reason, including suspected fraud, and we are not liable for declined transactions.

Credit Line and Cash Advance Line

We assign a total credit line and may set a lower cash advance line. We may increase or decrease your credit line, or convert it to a lower limit, based on your account performance and other factors, consistent with applicable law.

Types of Balances

Your balance may include separate categories, such as purchases, cash advances, and balance transfers, each of which may carry a different annual percentage rate and different terms as shown in your rates and fees table.

When Interest Begins

Interest begins to accrue on a transaction on the later of the transaction date or the first day of the billing cycle in which it is charged, except that new purchases are not charged interest when the entire balance is paid by the due date.

Balance Subject to Interest by Category

Where more than one balance category applies, we determine the Balance Subject to Interest Rate separately for each category and apply that category's monthly periodic rate. The rate and the balance for each category are shown in the Interest Charge Calculation section of your statement.

Fees — Annual Fee

An annual fee, if applicable to your account, is charged to your account and appears on your statement. The amount of any annual fee is shown in your rates and fees table and in the fees section of your statement.

Fees — Late and Returned Payment

We may charge a late payment fee if we do not receive at least the minimum payment by the due date, and a returned payment fee if a payment is not honored. The amounts are shown in your rates and fees table.

Fees — Cash Advance and Foreign Transaction

A cash advance fee may apply to each cash advance, and a foreign transaction fee may apply to transactions made in a foreign currency or processed outside the United States, as shown in your rates and fees table.

Penalty Pricing

If a payment is late or returned, we may apply a penalty annual percentage rate to your account as permitted by law after providing any required advance notice. We will review the account periodically to determine whether the penalty rate may be removed.

Minimum Payment Calculation

Your minimum payment is generally the greater of a stated dollar amount or a percentage of your new balance, plus any past-due amounts, fees, and interest as described in your agreement. Paying more reduces interest and repayment time.

Payments — Form and Crediting

Payments must be made in U.S. dollars drawn on a U.S. financial institution by an approved method. Payments received by the cutoff time on a business day are credited that day; otherwise they are credited the next business day.

Default

You are in default if you fail to make a required payment when due, exceed your credit line, provide false information, become the subject of insolvency proceedings, or otherwise breach this agreement. On default we may take actions permitted by law.

Our Rights on Default

On default, subject to applicable law and any required notice, we may close your account, demand immediate payment of the full balance, apply the penalty rate, and pursue collection, including reporting the default to credit bureaus.

Closing Your Account

You may close your account at any time by notifying us; you remain responsible for the balance. We may close or suspend your account at any time for any reason permitted by law. Closing an account does not affect your obligation to pay.

Credit Authorizations and Holds

When you use your card, a merchant may obtain an authorization hold that reduces your available credit by the estimated amount of the transaction until it posts or the hold expires. Holds are common for hotels, rentals, and fuel.

Statements and Notices

We provide a statement for each billing cycle in which there is activity or a balance. You agree to review each statement promptly and to notify us of any error within the time period stated in your billing rights.

Telephone and Text Consent

You consent to receive calls and text messages, including using automatic dialing systems, at the numbers you provide, for servicing and fraud-prevention purposes. Message and data rates may apply. You may withdraw consent for marketing contacts.

Military Lending Act Notice

Federal law provides important protections to members of the Armed Forces and their dependents. To hear this disclosure and a description of your payment obligation, call the toll-free number provided for that purpose.

Arbitration Agreement

Your agreement may contain a binding arbitration provision under which either party may elect to resolve a dispute by individual arbitration rather than in court, subject to your right to reject the provision within the time stated.

Changes to Your Agreement

We may change the terms of your account, including rates, fees, and other terms, in accordance with your agreement and applicable law. We will provide advance written notice and any right to reject as required.

Governing Network Rules

Transactions are processed over a payment network and are subject to the network's operating rules, including rules governing authorization, settlement, and dispute rights, in addition to the terms of your agreement.

Liability for Unauthorized Use

You are not liable for unauthorized use of your account that occurs after you notify us of possible unauthorized use. Notify us at once using the number on your statement if you believe your card or account number has been compromised.

Credit Balance Refund

If your account has a credit balance, you may request a refund at any time. We may also apply a credit balance to new charges or, after a period of inactivity, refund it to you as required by law.

Assignment of Account

We may sell, assign, or transfer your account and this agreement to another party without notice, except as required by law. You may not sell, assign, or transfer your account or any obligation under it.

Statement Purpose and Content

This statement shows your transactions, payments, credits, interest charges, and fees for the billing period, along with your new balance, minimum payment, and payment due date. Review it carefully each cycle.

Available Credit and Authorizations

Your available credit is reduced by pending authorizations before a transaction posts. Merchants such as hotels, car rental agencies, and fuel stations may request an authorization greater than the final amount.

Convenience Checks

If we provide convenience checks, using one is treated as a cash advance or as otherwise disclosed, accrues interest from the transaction date, and may be subject to a transaction fee. We may decline to honor a convenience check.

Promotional Offers

From time to time we may offer promotional rates on purchases or balance transfers for a limited period. When the promotional period ends, the standard annual percentage rate applies to any remaining promotional balance.

Order of Payment Application During Promotions

When your account has balances at different rates, required minimum payments are applied first to the lowest-rate balance. Amounts paid above the minimum are applied first to the highest-rate balance as required by law.

Account Reviews

We may review your account and credit information periodically. Based on that review we may change your credit line or your rates, subject to advance notice and any right to reject required by law.

Merchant Disputes

If you have a problem with goods or services purchased with your card, you may have the right to withhold payment for the disputed amount after making a good-faith attempt to resolve the dispute with the merchant, subject to conditions.

Replacement Cards

We may issue a replacement or renewal card before your current card expires. Recurring charges set up with merchants may need to be updated with your new card number and expiration date.

Account Inactivity

If your account is inactive for an extended period, we may close it consistent with your agreement and applicable law. Closing an account for inactivity does not affect your obligation to pay any remaining balance.

Payment Posting and Available Credit Restoration

When you make a payment, it may take several days for the funds to be collected and for your available credit to be restored, particularly for large payments or payments from certain sources.

Statement Copies and Records

You may request copies of prior statements or transaction records. We retain records for the period required by law. Fees for certain copy requests, if any, are disclosed in the fees table.

Responsibility for Authorized Users

You are responsible for all charges made by any authorized user you add to the account, and for ensuring they comply with the terms of this agreement. You may remove an authorized user by notifying us.

Currency Conversion Timing

For transactions in a foreign currency, the exchange rate is determined as of the date the transaction is processed, which may differ from the date of your purchase, and may therefore differ from the rate in effect on the purchase date.

Contact Us

For questions about your account, to report a lost or stolen card, or to dispute a charge, contact us using the telephone number and address shown on this statement. Keep a record of the date and details of your contact.

Privacy Notice

We collect nonpublic personal information about you to open and service your account, such as information from your application and your transactions. We do not sell your information and share it only as permitted by law and as described in our privacy policy, a copy of which is available on request.

Information Safeguards

We maintain physical, electronic, and procedural safeguards designed to protect your nonpublic personal information. Access is limited to personnel who need it to provide products and services to you.

Electronic Delivery Consent

If you have consented to electronic delivery, statements, notices, and disclosures are provided electronically. You may withdraw consent and receive paper documents at any time by contacting us using the information on this statement.

Electronic Signatures and Records

You agree that electronic records and signatures have the same legal effect as paper documents and handwritten signatures with respect to your account and any related agreements.

OFAC and Sanctions Screening

Transactions are screened against sanctions lists maintained by the U.S. Office of Foreign Assets Control. Activity involving sanctioned parties or jurisdictions may be delayed, blocked, or rejected as required by law.

Governing Law

Your account and the applicable agreement are governed by applicable federal law and, to the extent not preempted, the laws of the state identified in your agreement, without regard to conflict-of-laws principles.

Assignment

We may assign or transfer your account and our rights under the agreement to another party. Your obligations remain unchanged, and you will be notified of a servicing transfer as required by law.

Address of Record

Notices are sent to the address of record. Please keep it current. Notices we send to the address of record are effective when sent, whether or not you actually receive them.
